什麼是EndNote?

- 協助管理書目資料
- Word寫作時產生citations(文內引用) & references(參考文獻)

According to traditional Chinese medicine, the pericardial meridian is associated with the pain or fullness in the chest, palpitations, depression, restlessness, manic or depressive disorders, nausea or vomiting, hiccups, gastric pain, and distension in the upper abdomen (Bai and Baron, 2001). Since the parasympathetic modulation of both heart and gut is largely mediated by the vagus nerve, and since vagal stimuli increase gastric peristalsis while the vagal stimulation of the heart can decrease it (Bai and Hall, 1996), it is speculated that to some extent the symptoms associated with the autonomic nervous modulation of the heart and gut

Acupuncture or acupressure at the Neiguan (P6) point in the pericardium meridian, has been shown to lessen nausea and vomiting (1987, 1988, 1989a and b; Ho et al., 1989; De Aloysi et al., 1994; Fan et al., 1997; Harmon et al., 2000). It is speculated that the autonomic nervous activity might be related to autonomic nervous activity (Morrow et al., 1997). The P6 point was performed.
