According to traditional Chinese medicine, the pericardial meridian is associated with the pain or fullness in the chest, palpitations, depression, restlessness, manic or depressive disorders, nausea or vomiting, hiccups, gastric pain, and distension in the upper abdomen (Bai and Baron, 2001). Since the parasympathetic modulation of both heart and gut is largely mediated by the vagus nerve, and since vagal stimulation of the gut can result in increased peristalsis while the vagal stimulation of the heart can result in decreased heart rate (Guyton and Hall, 1996), it is speculated that to some extent the pericardium meridian might be associated with the autonomic nervous modulation of the subject.

Acupuncture or acupressure at the Neiguan (P6) point, the most frequently used acupoint in the pericardium meridian, has been shown to lessen nausea and vomiting (Dundee et al., 1987, 1988, 1989a and b; Ho et al., 1989; De Aloysio and Penacchioni, 1992; Belluomini et al., 1994; Fan et al., 1997; Harmon et al., 2000). Because nausea and vomiting are also related to autonomic nervous activity (Morrow et al., 1992; Morrow et al., 1999), we speculated that the autonomic nervous activity might be changed when acupuncture at the P6 point was performed.

ABSTRACT

Background: : Cancers comprise a significant proportion of urologic workload. The epidemiology of prostate and renal cancers is well described. We report the incidence, survival and predictors of survival for non-prostate, non-renal urologic cancers between 1977 and 2013.

Methods: : All patients in the South Australian Cancer Registry diagnosed with bladder, testis, penis, renal pelvis, ureteric and other male genital organ cancers between 1977 and 2013 were included. Demographic data included age, sex, year of diagnosis, grade, and metropolitan/rural status. Changes in incidence, survival and

1. Introduction

Urologic cancers include malignancies which affect the prostate, kidney, bladder, testis, penis, ureter, renal pelvis, and those coded as 'other and unspecified urinary organs' which include urethra, para-urethral glands, overlapping lesions of urinary organs and unspecified urinary organs (OUO). Urologic cancers are common, accounting for over 440,000 diagnoses in Australia between 1982 and 2011 [1].

Of the urologic cancers, cancers of the prostate and kidney have been described extensively in the Australian setting including incidence
